From Where The West Begins.

MOTHERS' DAY will be celebrated on Sunday, May 13th, this year. Special stamps will be issued by the postoffice department in honor of the occasion. Mothers' Day stamps will bear a reproduction of the well-known "Portrait of My Mother" masterpiece by Whistler. Stamps will go on sale at postoffices over the country on May 2nd.

TEXAS believes in living up to its reputation for doing things on a big scale. From a Jourdan farm comes report of a "long horn" radish, grown in his back yard garden, which weighed four pounds. Believe it or not, the gent had the radish along for proof.

IN ACCORDANCE with a new ruling announced by the aeronautics branch of the Department of Commerce, commercial pilots are permitted to make acrobatic flights with passengers seeking possible cure from deafness and other physical defects through stunt flying. However, permission must be secured in advance from proper aviation authorities, and a doctor's recommendation is required before the acrobatic passenger flight permission will be granted. Previous to the new ruling, stunt flying with passengers was prohibited under any circumstances.

THE folks out yonder on the ranches are "chavin' leather. Pardners, they're plum mad from the heels of their cowboy boots clean to the top of those ten-gallon Stetsons.

Those back east radio yodlers are the cause of all the rumpus. It's their mispronunciation of a pet cowboy term in the song, "Git along little doggie, git along, etc." The tenderfoot singers persist in herding little "doggies" along to the last round-up. Grizzled cowmen claim the term is pronounced "do-gie" and long o sound. Some patriotic Republican might use this information along to Dr. William A. Wirth.

Maybe these "tongue twister" yodlers are stirring up a revolution in the west.

A do-gy is a young calf, according to information from the wide open spaces. Maverick is another term in cowboy lingo. This is used to designate unbranded cattle herded in the spring round-up. Calves born following last branding also come under this classification, a rancher friend informs.

BEFORE a downtown 5 and 10 cent store a 15-cent breakfast offering the following selection of food is advertised: 2 large eggs (any style), choice of 2 slices ham or sausage, 2 slices buttered toast, jelly, and 2 cups of coffee with pure cream. Wonder how they can do it for 15 cents?

SAN ANTONIO'S population have cast aside cares and worries and donned holiday raiment. This is Fiesta de San Jacinto week, commemorating the Battle of San Jacinto, Texas, in 1836. It was on this field Texans defeated the army of the Mexican General Santa Anna, gaining freedom for their beloved Texas, and avenging the ruthless slaughter at the sacred Alamo. "Remember the Alamo" was the battle cry that swept the Texans to victory under the leadership of Sam Houston.

Fiesta activities for the week include: Formal entry of King Antonio XVI Monday afternoon, followed by a Pioneer's ball and reception that night. On Tuesday an elaborate flower show, followed by a Battle of Flowers fete at the municipal auditorium. Over 1000 talented children take part in this gorgeous spectacle of dancing and tableaux scenes, each dancing school group enacting part of a continuous theme.

Wednesday, a trades parade with decorated floats is over downtown streets. The annual pilgrimage to the Alamo with memorial services and patriotic addresses takes place on Thursday afternoon. By night the impressive Coronation of the Queen of the Fiesta de San Jacinto is held at the municipal auditorium under auspices of the Order of the Alamo.

On Friday morning's program is listed the annual convention of South Texas Press association. That afternoon and climaxing public event, the Battle of Flowers parade, in honor of the Battle of San Jacinto, dazzles the eyes of spectators with an endless procession of elaborate, rose-bedecked floats, marvelous both from artistic and historic standpoints. These floats are entered by civic, school, patriotic, army, fraternal, individual and other organizations. Competitive prizes are awarded in the various groups.

Fiesta week draws visitors from every section of Texas and other parts of the United States to San Antonio for the gaiety and historic beauty that this annual celebration affords.

SOMEONE sends a clipping from an issue of Forbes Magazine during 1931. Mr. Insull, the gentleman who played an unsuccessful game of "hide and go seek" with Uncle Sam until recent date, had this to say:

"If you ever expect to succeed, you must carry out the idea that the other fellow is entitled to a chance."

Okay, Mr. Insull, your Uncle Sam is going to give you a "chance" to do some explaining when you reach the U. S. A.

ORDINATION TO THE HOLY PRIESTHOOD TO BE CONFERRED ON FOUR

Wednesday, May 23, to Witness First Holy Mass of Newly-Ordained—Bishop Richard O. Gerow to be Present for Occasion.

A solemn program is being arranged for the celebration of the ordination to the priesthood of four colored seminarians of St. Augustine's Seminary, which will be held on the Seminary Campus in Bay St. Louis, May 23rd. The ordination will be performed by his Most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, D. D., Bishop of Natchez, Mississippi.

The different committees are drawing up tentative plans for the complete arrangements, and ample space will be made for a large crowd to witness the ordination, which will be an outdoor affair. Many have promised their support and were enthusiastic in setting the program on foot. A warm welcome is assured the visitors.

Invitations to attend the ordination will be issued to all the Reverend clergy of the vicinity. Besides many Religious Orders of Sisters will likewise be notified of the coming event. All the friends and benefactors will be informed, that they may participate in the ceremony, and witness the ordination of the Society's first colored priests. It is expected that a large gathering of ecclesiastical and civil representatives will be present.

A number of the New Orleans Knights of Peter Claver, and the Auxiliaries are planning to attend the ordination and a large attendance from all sections of the state is anticipated.

Needles to say, this will be a day on which the Society of the Divine Word, and the faculty of St. Augustine's Seminary have cause to rejoice, who see in this day another answer to their fondest hopes and fervent prayers. The Society of the Divine Word will send the first fruits of St. Augustine's Seminary—a colored clergy—to labor and continue the work of evangelization among the colored people.

MRS. JAS. H. SYLVESTER RECEIVES PRAISE FROM MILITARY HEAD

For Work in Behalf of Civilian Conservation Camp Members in Hancock County.

Mrs. Jas. H. Sylvester, who has unselfishly and without stint of time and effort worked in behalf of the recreational and welfare work for members of Camp Miss. P-52, Kila, Miss., Civilian Conservation Corps, is in receipt of a letter of thanks and appreciation from Bernard F. Farrelly, 1st Lt. 312th Eng. Res., commanding, writing from 148th Company, Civilian Camp Corps, office of the Company Commander, in which he voices thanks and appreciation of her services.

Mrs. Sylvester is so richly deserving of this recognition that the Echo asked permission to print the letter and is herewith published, as follows:

"I want to tell you how much we appreciate the recreational and welfare work which the organization that we know to be State, out which the boys are fully convinced is in fact, yourself, Hon. Ansley, Hazel Keeney and Lucille Besancon."

"We have come to feel pretty much like the boys in this matter, because the work which you are doing here is the way of open house, which to us is a complete recreational meeting, which is more than enjoyed by all the boys who look forward to this activity."

"I would like also to say a word in connection with our monthly dance, and this is, that I have never seen a dance where so many boys and girls were involved to be conducted in such a consistent and desirable manner over such a period of time."

"In concluding I wish to express to you and your girls my heartfelt personal thanks as well as to thank you for the boys. It has taken a heavy burden from our shoulders and conveyed to the shoulders of those who are better able to conduct these activities in such a manner, as to reflect credit upon this organization and yourselves."

Gentry's Dog and Pony Show Presents Splendid Performance

Two fair-sized audiences greeted Gentry's Dog and Pony Show in Bay St. Louis last Saturday, matinee and evening and Gentry Bros.' well-known reputation for a clean, entertaining and high-class show was full sustained.

There was no stint about the program. Entertainment for nearly two hours was given and the dog and pony acts were of merit. The ponies were of beautiful appearance and fine breed and won the admiration of all horse lovers. And the dogs did more than was expected. The black water spaniel in his particular acts was a show in itself and the spitz, collies, terriers, and poodles as well as others were far above the average dog show. Gentry Bros. had not been to Bay St. Louis for many years and their return a source of pleasure and general satisfaction to the public. The performance was under auspices of Parents' Association, St. Stanislaus College.

The physically handicapped people, who have been registered by workers of the Civilian Rehabilitation Division, are informed that instructions from Jackson have been received to the effect that clinics will be held all over the State to examine persons whose cards show that they need treatment, training or placement.

Residents of Bay St. Louis who have physical defects are asked to register with Mrs. Hale at the City Hall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week and next week from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

HANCOCK TO HAVE BIG DAY

Saturday, May 5 Designated By Recreational Workers—Federal Project Plan.

The County Recreational Workers with the chairman of each community group, and the president of the County Council, Miss Gertrude Perkins, are planning one of the biggest days in the history of Hancock county. On Saturday, May 5th, it is expected representatives from every community in the county will come with their families and lunch baskets and meet at St. Stanislaus Stadium for a day of recreational activities. The program will include all types of athletic events, stunts and contests, and the climax of the day's program will be baseball games between men and women of the different communities. The Recreational Workers wish to express appreciation to Brother William, who so kindly gave use of the stadium and pier. They are very grateful for his wholehearted co-operation.

PRIZE AWARDS TO WORKERS IN FREE SEWING COURSE

The exhibit of the Free Sewing Course displayed in Mauffray's windows, last week end was exceedingly attractive and reflected much credit on pupils.

Woman's Missionary Society Hears Mrs. C. C. McDonald's Address

Members and friends of the Woman's Missionary Society, meeting at the residence of Mrs. J. E. Gray, with Mrs. Gray, Mrs. J. C. Buckley and Mrs. W. W. Jones as co-hostesses, enjoyed another interesting and constructive afternoon at a monthly meet Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald read an interesting paper on the schools and school children of Brazil, where the population was so dense in the cities and the cost of education beyond means of local government that it became necessary to divide the classes in half day sessions, the same corps of teachers doing double duty in one day. Pictures of various scenes incidental to the address were shown.

Joseph's Coat of Many Colors was received and taken apart. It was found that within the many patches coins of various small denominations had been inclosed, total amount to something like $5.00, an amount of no small proportion for such means of raising funds. The coat was originally presented the society by Miss May Osbourne.

Following the business hour and program presented, refreshment was served and one of the largely-attended meetings adjourned.

It was a most informative address and well received and the speaker was complimented at its conclusion.

Mr. Gex has appeared before the Rotary Club on former occasions and it was a unanimous pleasure to have him back to address the club. He was introduced by the chairman of the Program Committee.

Warrington Home Representative Visits Bay St. Louis on Tour

Mrs. Leona Hall, traveling representative of the well-known Warrington House, Inc., was in Bay St. Louis a few days ago in the interest of the Warrington Movement, which includes as the main building No. 1138-40 Royal Street, New Orleans. Warrington House, began with a name. Only 5 youths came during that first year. In 1931 the 58th year, more than 6000 were helped and more than 42,000 free meals were served. The number in 1932 will be even greater. Countless thousands have been fed, clothed, and lodged without charge.

Mr. Warrington still lives and personally directs the work, dedicating his fortune and life time to this great work.

Mississippi Power Company Has New Local Service Man For Bay.

Carl Vickers, who has served the Mississippi Power Company the past six years a general service man at Pass Christian, was transferred Monday to Bay St. Louis succeeding General Service Man Patton, who is transferred to another place.

Mr. Vickers is well known in this section of the Coast and comes well recommended by the citizens of Pass Christian who regretted his leaving. Mr. Patton had served Bay St. Louis for quite a while and made an enviable record while here for general courtesy and efficiency, serving the public day and night to their utmost satisfaction.

Public Improvements Attract Attention and Will Prove of Value

Outward signs of improvement about the municipality are noted. Names of streets are painted in legible letters on the curb of every corner. Joseph Gilbert doing a satisfactory job of it. Parking lines in white are painted over the city streets, William E. Saucier and Archie Letten doing the tedious and accurate work.

Both works are commendable. Street names displayed serve as a guide to visitors and home folks as well and gives the city an air of order and attention and speaks well for city authorities. And parking lines guide the autos where to park and avoids confusion and possibly accidents.

LIBRARY HAS MANY READERS

Federal Project Well Received and Serves Over Wide Scope—Object Is Worthy.

Mrs. Harry P. Sneed has been re-appointed librarian for the Bay St. Louis Federal library project for an extension, from April 13 to the 27th. The library is opened daily from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 5 o'clock and on Saturdays from 10 to 12 o'clock.

It is noted with unusual interest the library project is largely patronized and that our people are taking daily advantage of the library facilities offered. The books are free and may be taken at home to read. Boys and girls of advanced ages are particularly interested and Mrs. Sneed says anyone wishing to donate books would do well to cater to the youth since such a demand is made for books of interest to that age. All donations will be thankfully received.

An interesting feature is the daily current events bulletin at the library, which Mrs. Sneed prepares each night. This bulletin is written in a manner that is brief and to the point and serves a wide circle of people who in this way may keep abreast with current events.

While the library is absolutely free to the public there are a number of incidental expenses which the government has made no provisions to defray. There is a receipt in the form of a green elephant ready to receive pennies and any small coin the public may wish to deposit. This will take care of small incidental expenses. Mrs. Sneed has been making the purchase of this kind personally but her salary is so limited that it seems unfair to expect her to keep this up, especially since the public is receiving so vast a benefit.

Benebit Bazaar at Stanislaus College Gym Attracts Many Sunday

The bazaar benefit given Sunday evening at St. Stanislaus Gym by the Parents' Association of the college, was well attended and well over a hundred dollars was cleared.

Planning to assist raising a fund for the purpose of purchasing uniforms for St. Stanislaus College Band, the sum realized, supplemented with a donation from a friend, will prove ample for the purchase.

There were various booths and games to attract and interest the young people that were in majority of the number of attendants. The evening offered a good time and the affair closed to the general satisfaction of all concerned.

Mrs. Edmund F. Fahy, president of the Parents' association, and her associates worked indefatigably for the project and it may well be said their efforts were crowned with success. Bro. William, president, also expressed satisfaction, and with the officers and members of the association expressed thanks and appreciation to one and all who in any way assisted in making the benefit a success.

DR. CARROLL ALLEN PASSES AWAY AT HIS N. O. HOME SATURDAY

Well-Known Surgeon Dies Unexpectedly—Was Large Land Owner In Hancock County.

Universal sorrow was expressed Saturday and Sunday when the news was published by the New Orleans daily press that Dr. Carroll Allen, of the staff of the Baptist Hospital at New Orleans had passed away, his funeral taking place in that city Monday morning from his late residence in Audubon Place.

Dr. Allen was well known in Bay St. Louis, for years spending the week-end at his farm on Jordan river, adjacent to Bay St. Louis. His trips extended from Saturday morning to Sunday afternoon and in addition to owning his farm and country home he owned perhaps more land in the Jordan river section of Hancock County than any other individual. He substantially backed his faith in this section with his money and so vast were his holdings that it would be with some difficulty to even venture a guess.

Dr. Allen said this climate and artesian water were second to none. This, he had oftentimes said, was the ideal health-giving place to live and that there were innumerable commercial possibilities. He was of the firm opinion that oil exists in the sub-soil strata and that it was only a question of time the earth's wealth in this section would be brought to the surface in copious and paying quantities.

Dr. Allen was considered one of the foremost surgeons in the country, and his reputation was well known. His death was unexpected although he was not a very well man, contrary to popular belief, since the news of his unexpected demise was all the more a shock to his friends and acquaintances.

Beauty Contest To Be Staged In Bay St. Louis Wednesday Night

A local contest to determine the most beautiful girl in Bay St. Louis and surrounding section will be given at "Uncle Charlie's" Nite Club on Wednesday night, April 25. Probably about forty girls will be in the contest since so much interest has been manifested so far. Each girl will wear a banner for some local business firm.

A dance after the contest in honor of the girls participating will be given with Lewis Carron's Orchestra playing for the dance.

Posters carrying names of business places represented and names of contestants will appear Monday morning for circulation.

This blank and claim must be properly filled and filed with the county tax assessor otherwise the exemption will not be granted. Mr. Cuevas' office is in the courthouse and he will readily give to taxpayers the necessary blank on request.

Chaplain Lt. Cunard To Speak at Baptist Church Sunday Night

A special treat is in store for all who take the opportunity to hear this outstanding speaker Sunday night at 7:30. Lieutenant Cunard is chaplain for the C. C. Camp in our own county, and is here for short periods of time, and we feel complimented in having him with us. We hope the young people of all churches will take advantage of this opportunity since Chaplain Cunard is especially interested in working with young people.

Apprehended At Henderson Point With 7000 Pennies

Harold Bauman and James Wolfe, charged with grand larceny in connection with the alleged theft of scales in front of Gulfport business houses, will be given a preliminary hearing before County Judge George Murphy Thursday. The men who gave Logansport, Ind., as their home, had about 7000 pennies in their possession when they were taken into custody by officers at Henderson Point Sunday night. One of them admitted taking a scale from a 26th avenue store. County Prosecuting Attorney Gaston Hewes said.

NEWS MAKERS OF 1933.

IT IS interesting to the average citizen to speculate upon the priority of personalities prominently mentioned in the news of the day. Opinions may differ but the annual news index of The New York Times, containing the record of 1933, shows 3,240 references to President Roosevelt, about four times the publicity accorded anyone else.

Eliminating individuals mainly of local interest in the State of New York we find 360 references to former President Hoover, 280 references to ex-Governor Smith, 240 to Postmaster-General Farley, Henry Ford, Secretary Hull and Samuel Insull and 200 to Prime Minister MacDonald, of England.

The five leading topics of 1933, as determined by the space required for indexing, ranked as follows: United States 7,780 references; currency, 3,160; banks and banking, 2,840; NIRA, 2,440; and Germany, 2,280.

The greatest proportionate advance in publicity came to Chancellor Hitler, of Germany, who in 1932, rated a half-column, but in 1933 required four columns in the index. General Johnson, of the NRA, moved from nowhere to three and one-half columns, where he caught up with President. Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University. Mussolini, however, topped them with a total of four and one-half columns.

Other men, in order, were Einstein, J. P. Morgan, Admiral Byrd, Stalin, Alphonso and the Mikado. Ahead of all women was Mrs. Roosevelt, the first lady of the land.

TWO OLD MEN.

PRIOR to the great collapse in 1929 Samuel Insull was one of the most powerful of the utility magnates in the United States. Along with him to wealth and prestige he carried his brother, Martin J. Insull. A two billion dollar empire in utility companies was created but its foundations were faulty and it finally collapsed to the financial damage of hundreds of thousands of citizens who had invested their money.

When the crash came the two Insull brothers fled from this country, afraid to accept responsibility for their acts in connection with what had turned out to be the ruthless exploitation of the faith put in them by investors. A few days ago Martin J. Insull was brought back from Canada by officers of the law to stand trial on a charge of having embezzled $365,000. About the same time his brother, Samuel, was being taken off a Greek steamer in Turkish waters by the authorities of Turkey to be held by them and surrendered to American authorities in order that the older brother might likewise face charges in America.

Many men probably envied the Insulls, their wealth and apparent success but the pathetic sight of these two old men, nearing the end of life, fugitives from justice, being arrested and dragged back for trial should once more emphasize the injunction that honesty is the best policy.

CATCHES CRIMINAL ON TELEPHONE

MEMORY is a remarkable attribute of mankind and works very often in ways that are somewhat mysterious.

The other day, Joseph Tarantino, of New York telephoned a retail wine merchant and recognized the voice that answered as that of the missing banker of a collapsed financial structure that caused its depositors to lose $2,000,000 eleven years ago.

Without any evidence of recognition, Tarantino decoyed the merchant to his home and into his wine cellar, where he trapped him and telephoned the police.

It is interesting to note that the banker had been sought vainly in all countries of the world after his flight and that he had returned to the scene of his banking disaster to escape the police dragnet. Then, fate took a hand and he came into contact with one of the depositors who had sworn vengeance against him years ago.

THE RUSSIAN WAY

RUSSIA is a strange country in more ways than one. Some of its methods are a little cruel but, on the other hand, some of ours may be a little too merciful.

Not long ago, after a railroad wreck which killed nineteen people, the engineer and brakeman were ordered shot. The former had been reprimanded twelve times previously and the brakeman had been reprimanded for drunkenness.

A station master who switched a freight train on a through track and an engineer who ran past a semaphore signal, causing thirty-three to be killed, were likewise executed. Other members of the train crew got prison terms.

The June graduates are now making their final plans for handling the world as soon as college days are over.

Every community, including Bay St. Louis, should encourage its children to develop the reading habit.

There is plenty of everything in the world for everybody to have enough. Why not arrange our social systems to secure just distribution and let all the people live?

DOES CHILD HEALTH DAY MEAN ANYTHING IN BAY ST. LOUIS?

IT IS interesting to observe that the Congress of the United States, in 1923, requested the President to annually proclaim May first as Child Health Day. Since that year, each President has issued an appropriate proclamation which gives recognition to the vital interest which the nation has in the health of its children.

In hundreds of towns and cities in this country special programs will be observed in the interest of child health and thousands of articles will be printed in magazines and newspapers to emphasize its importance.

However, the question of deepest concern to the people of Bay St. Louis is, "What does it mean to us?" Making speeches and reading articles about child health are entirely worthless unless they are followed by some positive action in the areas where children live. Bay St. Louis, like a number of other places, is proud to refer to its interest in the boys and girls who live here. Almost any adult here can utter some platitudes about the "real wealth of the nation" and the high regard in which we hold the men and women of tomorrow.

If Child Day is to mean anything to the children of May St. Louis, it must be because the adults of this community realize the deficiencies that exist and exhibit a willingness to expend time and money for the proper care and development of the physical bodies of little ones living within our limits.

The time has long passed when intelligent parents are satisfied to permit the boys and girls of today to grow up and get along on the things that were good enough for the generation before them. It is essential for the well-being of children that they have ample opportunities for play, under proper supervision.

Moreover, they should be taught the fundamental rules of correct living. Luckily, our schools are doing better along this line but there is much to be done and the Parent-Teachers' Associations throughout the country have focused interest upon the problems of children.

"BE KIND TO ANIMALS"

THIS is the twentieth "Be Kind to Animals" week and is set aside to persuade human beings to give thought to their duties toward the sub-human races.

The idea of inaugurating a special week of the year for this purpose was carried into effect for the first time in 1915. Since that year many governors and other officials have taken occasion to issue proclamations concerning the week and urging the public generally to "Be Kind to Animals."

The Echo realizes that so many weeks have been set aside for special occasions that the reading public is apt at times to become tired of the idea. However, generally a boy or girl who has been taught to show kindness and consideration to dumb friends of the field and forest will develop a laudable compassion for the sufferings of their fellow men.

While much emphasis has been placed upon the educational value of kindness to animals, it is interesting to recall that the earlier laws on this subject were due to a desire to protect animals as property rather than to any humane consideration. At first, cruel treatment of animals by their owners was not an offense unless it was so aggravated as to become a public nuisance.

However in most of the United States cruelty to domestic animals is now a punishable offense and, in some states, over-work, lack of good food and water or similar mistreatment of a domestic animal renders the owner liable to punishment.

Parents of Hancock County will make no mistake in teaching kindness to animals to their children. School teachers might with profit to their pupils, devote a period to a discussion of and the development of the "Be Kind to Animals" idea.

DEATH OF DR. CARROLL ALLEN.

THE passing of Dr. Carroll Allen is noted with deepest regret for humanity has lost one of its best friends.

Dr. Allen was one of the foremost surgeons of his time and of this country. His work in New Orleans covered a long period, during which time he saved thousands of lives, even though he was a victim of death at the comparative young age of 59 years. He labored for humanity's sake. His time was not his own, his skill he used to advantage. He was an authority on local anesthesia and in his profession used it extensively.

Thus man, heir to a million ills, has lost much in the passing away of this brilliant and highly capable physician and surgeon. This is the greatest of all losses.

He was a friend of Hancock county and his interests in this county cover vastly that portion of Hancock county known as the Jordan River section. He had high hopes for this section and looked forward to a realization of great things for Hancock county and that at no distant time.

FEDERAL PROJECT WORKERS.

VARIOUS federal projects, to improve the people of Hancock county in various phases of constructive work, to add to their recreational past times in order to foster a better spirit to combat the depression, are all well worth and serve our people to advantage. It is well this work. And to those in whose charge it has been entrusted no mistake was made. The Echo notices that each executive and other workers in the different projects have worked with 100 per cent inspiration and determination to attain the results for which each were originated.

Natchez citizenry has risen in solid protest in behalf of the dog. Recent ordinance called for killing of dogs found on the street. The public arose in resentment in this wholesale slaughter of man's best friend and the matter was taken to authorities that enjoined the city from further procedure along the line of its cruel mandate.

CONSERVATIVES.

"DEFINE your terms." The advice used to be given very emphatically by somebody or other much more distinguished than this writer. You can't talk very well unless you know just what you are talking about, and you can't produce effect unless the other fellow knows too, or thinks he knows. It may be interesting and useful to know the meaning of some of the words that are being used very freely nowadays, and that are going to be used even more freely during the next year or two.

At present the conservatives seem to have the floor. They are doing more talking than anybody else, and there are indications that they are getting results in Washington, even though they may not be completely successful there, and are even less influential with the mass of voters.

Conservative, according to the dictionary, means "Adhering to the existing order of things; opposed to change or progress." The word is like that itself, for it comes from a Latin word "conservare," which means to conserve, to keep. A conservative person is one who does not like change, or changes, who feels strongly the dread which "makes us rather bear those ills we have than fly to others that we know of." Hamlet's words may be as useful in interpreting present day politics as those of more recent politicians.

A newspaper writer lately listed nine classes of people opposed to President Roosevelt, of which six are conservative. But, if you will keep the dictionary and Hamlet in mind, you can put these six classes of conservatives into two great groups.

First are the wealthy classes. The man who has anything from a million to a billion dollars does not want any change. He is doing very well as it is. Very much better than he would be apt to do under any different set-up, and he is therefore vigorously leading the fight against all the new-fangled ideas that have come in with this administration, and the even stranger notions that the administration has refused to indorse. This group is small, but very powerful. It is doubtful if they could muster enough votes to elect a single congressman anywhere in the United States; but through their wealth they control all of the business and all of the business organizations of the country, most of the publicity organs and have very great influence with political parties and many politicians. Many of them (not all) are able men and hard fighters. They make a brave showing, and there is much force behind their blows.

But this small group would be rationally helpless if they were not supported by a much larger section of the people, those who hold to their fixed ideas as firmly as the millionaire hangs onto his wealth. They do not like changes because they do not like changes. Habits of thought become fixed, so that elderly people are very apt to be conservative. Busy men keep the ideas they learned in youth because they have no time to study new ones. Lawyers and judges are bound by precedents. The church and the military profession are very averse to change. Timid people are no less so. Women are usually much more conservative than men. Contented people are too well satisfied to wish to experiment. The force of inertia is great, especially in so large and diverse a country as the United States.

The small property-holder, the man with a few thousands, usually supports the men of wealth because he fears that what he has may be taken away from him, and that fear is industriously played upon. The farmer, in spite of his chronic complaints, is almost always a conservative, either as a property holder or as a man of fixed ideas. The only changes he favors are those which, he imagines, will benefit him at the expense of people in other occupations. As we pointed out last week, even the laborer who has a good job at fair pay is apt to be as conservative as his millionaire employer.

Conservatism, then, as a dominant force, is an accompaniment of prosperity and of resulting contentment. Even the business man who is losing money and is threatened with failure is apt to be jarred out of his complacency and to look for a remedy, exactly like the workman who loses his job. For that reason the success of any conservative reaction against the "New Deal" and against further control of business by government will depend on the return of business activity, profits and employment. Probably that fact has a good deal to do with the ballyhoo that we are hearing about good times. This country has been quite conservative in the past because it has been, on the whole, quite prosperous.

Conservatism is not a bad quality. On the contrary it is extremely valuable and useful. Progressives, by whatever name they may be called, are apt to go to harmful extremes, like the woman who cut her little boy's head off to cure him of sneezing. Even successful revolutionists like the British in 1688 and Americans in 1776-89 are apt to be careful and moderate men. We owe our government, not to Jefferson, but to Washington, John Adams, Hamilton and Marshall, and their no

N. O. AS A THEATER TOWN.

(Times-Picayune)

AMONG recent visitors to New Orleans was Jack Allicote, managing editor of Film Daily, the newspaper of the motion picture industry. He wrote in its columns that New Orleans was the worst show place in the country, explaining that in several days he saw no theater where there was a flesh-and-blood performer, a vaudeville turn, an orchestra or even an organ being played. Yet 20 years ago the business district often had as many as six theaters and the French Opera running at one time, in addition to the motion picture houses. The three performances just given at the Tulane theater should inspire united effort by the community to learn why Mr. Allicote's criticism was justified, and to decide what can be done to remedy such a condition. And the action should be taken now, not next winter or at some vague and indefinite date when we may have sunk back into our former apathy.

Miss Cornell is an actress of national prominence, but the two dramas in which she appeared here, were rather delicate and subtle vehicles, lacking mass appeal. However, every seat for all three performances was sold and could have been sold twice over, and long lines waited hours in advance of each curtain in an effort to crowd into the underserved gallery.

An unfortunate controversy deprived us of vaudeville and of musicians in the motion picture theaters, and certain pessimists continually chant that New Orleans will not support legitimate drama. If some of those who saw the jammed houses at the Tulane will only translate into action the enthusiasm of those three audiences, we may live to see that marvel repeated in what once was the best show town of America, instead of the worst.

State Supt. Education W. F. Bond Seeks More Aid for Next Session

State Supt. of Education W. F. Bond has sent the following communication to The Echo for publication, a suggestion that it might be well to get busy now for federal aid for next year school aid:

During the next few days the matter of Federal aid for our public schools next year will be decided upon in Congress.

The aid given us this year by the Federal Government saved our school system from being short in a great majority of the counties. We shall be in need of help next year, and we certainly hope that our Representatives in Congress will exert every effort with the President and other powers that be to get some money for us for next session. A letter to your Representative, or Senator along this line, and even to the President himself, would help, if you believe, as we do, that it would be a good thing for the Federal Government to give us a $1,000,000, or $1,500,000, next year for our public schools.

less cautious supporters, who were the conservatives of the first years of the republic.

At it looks now the most that conservatism can do in the next few years is to modify and lessen the changes that will be made in our economic life. Too many people are dissatisfied.

MARION DAVIES AND BING CROSBY SING AND DANCE IN DAZZLING MUSICAL SCENES

Fantastic Island of Glass, Where Even the Daisies Dance, One of Amazingly Beautiful Settings Created For Romantic Interludes of "Going Hollywood"

Six new musical numbers, which promise to become national song hits, will be heard in Marion Davies' new picture, "Going Hollywood," at the A. G. Theater with Bing Crosby by supporting the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star.

It was the wish of Miss Davies that her newest film should be liberally spiced with contagious musical rhythm, so, in the conferences that preceded the actual shooting of the picture, Producer Walter Wanger assigned Herb Brown and Arthur Freed to the task.

One of the numbers, "Our Big Love Scene," is a melodic theme that threads its way through the length of the picture.

Gigantic Orchestra

"It is introduced by Miss Davies, and Mr. Crosby," said the composers, "and is recorded by the largest symphonic orchestra ever used in motion pictures—an orchestra of one hundred and twenty-five pieces."

Another which Miss Davies believes will become nationally popular is "We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

"This song," said the composers, "carries the philosophy of Back-to-the-farm, where the hustle and bustle of the city is forgotten and where the lovers sing, 'We'll make hay while the sun shines and we'll make love while it rains.'"

It is presented amid a series of beautiful country scenes and represents a dream that Miss Davies has. In the dream, she hears Crosby singing the tune over the radio. During the first few bars he sings in the broadcasting station, but Miss Davies appears and leads him away as he continues to sing.

"A few more bars are sung as he leads him by the hand through a beautiful field of dancing daisies that sway to the beat of the song as they pass through them."

Cottage of Glass

"The song is continued as the lovers enter and pass through their love cottage of glass, and then, in Mauve Decade costumes they are next seen driving along a country lane and into a hay field where a chorus of scarecrows come to life and begin dancing. Miss Davies dances with the scarecrows, and the young lovers next appear at a modernistic husking bee and barn dance, where they meet—in eccentric roles—the other characters in the play. The song continues as the lovers find themselves upon a glass island and as the last bars of a song fade, the dream leaves Miss Davies and Crosby singing in the rain beneath a giant mushroom which has taken

In the first of the annual Biloxi Relays, the Bay High girls ran a close second to the highly rated Biloxi cinderpaths.

Competition was plenty close with Biloxi taking first honors with 30 points, Bay Hi second with 29, and Gulfport a close third with 28 points.

Miss Stella Turcotte was the foremost outstanding individual performer of the meet, winning first places in the 50 and 75 yard dashes in good time for a slow track.

50 yard dash—Turcotte, Bay Hi, first; Mahr, Biloxi; Mammons, Gulfport. Time 6.6.

50-yard dash (Jr. Hi girls)—Foretich, Gulfport, first; Heitzman, Bay Hi; Galy, Biloxi. Time 6.9.

Concluding campaigns which were managed in grand political style by the supporters of the various candidates, the student body recently elected Nolan Taconi to serve as president of the student body in 1934 and 1935. The votes in the second primary were 183 for Taconi and 116 for Watkins.

Nolan parted from Bay High with fine records in athletics and is dedicating this at Hattiesburg State Teachers College. He will finish his school work next spring and expects to carry out some interesting plans.

A few weeks ago he addressed the senior class of Bay High and gave some interesting points on college life. He not only gave the pleasures that he finds in college, but he dwelled on the mental side of the question.

"How can I make anti freeze?" "Hide her woolen pajamas." "Sniper."

Miss Leila Laddner of Lakeshore won the prize for the best made dress in the county. The sewing was on exhibition at Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Alphonse Bourgeois of Waveland conducted this class. She is proud that a member of her class scored first.

Orvil Williamson was in New Orleans Tuesday to attend the performance of Katherine Cornell in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" at the Tulane.

FUNERAL AND BURIAL CEREMONY OF REV. DR. H. H. LOWE SUNDAY

Body Lies in State Six Days; Was Pastor of First Baptist Church

Funeral ceremony for Rev. H. H. Lowe, pastor of the First Baptist church of Bay St. Louis was held last Sunday from his late residence in Sycamore street and from his church, adjoining.

Rev. Lowe had died Tuesday evening but his remains were kept until Sunday in order that many churchmen and laymen from the State and distant places might be given time to attend. The funeral was a large one, the ceremony beginning at 10 o'clock A. M. and the cortege reaching Cedar Rest cemetery about 2 o'clock. Here all that was mortal of one who had labored in the Lord's vineyard for over twenty years were laid to rest in a specially built grave, lined with brick and cement and topped with one massive slab.

At the church ceremony Rev. Dr. A. A. Cooley, of Vicksburg, a lifelong friend of the deceased, conducted the ceremony, paying tribute to the worthiness of the deceased as a spiritual worker, as a man and citizen.

Mrs. E. Cleggett, who had served in professional capacity as the counter and vigilant nurse of the deceased, read the obituary, a paper paying tribute and reviewing his active and exemplary life.

Rev. Lowe had been active in all circles of his church, within the house of God and on the outside among his flock as well. Their welfare was ever in mind; his charge was ever uppermost in mind. As a citizen, a contributing factor, a worker for school and charitable and fraternal organizations he was ever to the front, contributing his might, as he expressed it, and doing all that was possible to ameliorate conditions for his fellowmen.

The funeral was a large one, a manifestation of the regret of his people in the loss they have sustained by his death.

Doesn't Dare Traffic Cop—What do you mean, man, by letting your car wobble all over the road. Why don't you use both hands?

Young Man (with his girl beside him)—But, officer, I don't dare let go of the wheel entirely, you know.

Walker Wood Plans To Seek Re-Election Secretary of State

Jackson April 17.—Walker Wood of Winona announced Monday that he would be a candidate in 1935 to succeed himself as secretary of state thus spiking rumors that he would enter the race this year for Congress in the district now served by Congressman Jeff Busby of Houston.

"Friends in every county of my congressional district have expressed interest in me being honored in this way (of going to Congress), but personal matters will prevent me this year from entering the congressional race," announced Secretary of State Wood.

"I will be a candidate for secretary of State and I feel confident the people of my state will commission me to continue to serve them in this official position."

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For The Sea Coast Echo)

It seems that Hollywood is somewhat perturbed over the threat of an invasion by British producers of the theatres of America.

Up until the recent past this was not considered serious, but the recent financial success of several films sent over the Atlantic has caused producers here to wake up and take notice.

Among recent British successes may be listed "Catherine the Great" and the Charles Laughton vehicle "The Private Life of Henry VIII."

Instead of going to the heavy expense of sending complaints to far distant corners of the earth for the filming of pictures in their native backgrounds, producers are adopting the more economical expedient of sending a director and a camera man to the spot to photograph the backgrounds, which will be used as "stills" before which the actors may make the picture.

The Fox studios are going in heavily for foreign versions of films produced in this country. An ambitious project of this kind will begin with the filming simultaneously of "Gypsy Melody" and its French counterpart, "Caravan." Charles Boyer will star in both versions, with Jean Parker playing the lead in the American version and Mlle Annabella the same role in the French.

MGM has borrowed heavily from Twentieth Century, those borrowed being Constantine Bennett for "The Green Hat," Frederic March for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and Loretta Young for three pictures not yet announced.

Bay Summer Resident
Dies at Home in New Orleans Saturday

William D. Mumme, New Orleans downtown merchant, and Bay St. Louis summer resident, owning a home in Ulman avenue for quite a number of years, died Saturday morning at 5:50 a. m., at the Baptist hospital after a long illness.

A native of New Orleans, Mr. Mumme was 59 years old. As operator of a general merchandise store at Chartres and Flood streets, he was active in the civic and fraternal life of downtown New Orleans. He was an active member of St. Maurice's church.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Amelia Brenckle; a daughter, Miss Dorothy Mumme; two sisters, Mrs. A. Wilhelm and Mrs. A. Heyde, and three brothers, J. J. A. D., and T. C. Mumme.

Mr. Mumme was an ardent booster for Bay St. Louis and this section and had often expressed it as his desire to spend his later years in retirement at Bay St. Louis. He was well known here and his family have the sympathy of many.

THE ECHO'S
COOKING CLASS

SOUR Cream is really a wonderful treasure to the cook who knows how to use it. It should never be a drug on the market as there are so many definite uses for it. Many delectable dishes owe their unusual flavor to sour cream. The recipes that follow are only a few of the many that are available.

Lettuce With Sour Cream Dressing

To 3-4 cup of thin slightly sour cream add ½ cup of cider or tarragon vinegar, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of prepared mustard and beat well. Press the yolks of three hard boiled eggs through a coarse sieve and fold in the cream mixture. This dressing should be almost as thin as coffee cream. The egg whites may be used as a garnish. Serve with lettuce.

Chocolate Drop Cookies

2 tablespoons of fat
¼ cup sour cream
2 oz. chocolate
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts
1-8 teaspoon salt
¼ cups flour
1-8 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder

Melt the fat with the chocolate and stir in the cream, sugar, well-beaten egg, vanilla, salt, chopped nuts and dry ingredients. Beat thoroughly and drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Bake in oven 425 degrees about five minutes.

Asparagus Omelet

4 eggs, salt and pepper
4 tablespoons hot water
Cooked asparagus tips
Beat egg yolks until thick, then add the hot water, salt and pepper. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour slowly into a well greased omelet pan and cook over a very low fire until puffy and brown on the bottom. Place in moderate oven to finish cooking on top. An omelet is done if it does not cling to the halftingers when touched. Lay hot asparagus tips well drained over half the omelet and fold over, serve with hot rice potatoes to which a little pimiento has been added before cooking.

Baked Eggs in Tomato Sauce

2-eggs canned tomatoes
1 slice onion
1½ teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons sugar
½ cup grated cheese
2 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour

Cook tomatoes, onions, salt, sugar and pepper together for 20 minutes then press through a sieve, add flour, fat and bring to boiling point, stirring, constantly. Pour sauce into individual baking dishes, break egg one at a time and slip into each dish. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate oven 15 minutes.

Phoebe—Isn't it fine that Dr. Hurt has such a large practice?

Nan.—Yes, it's so large that when a patient has nothing the matter with him he tells him so.

Billy: Do girls always have the last word?

Charley: No—sometimes they are talking to another girl.

He: "I am burning with love for you."

She: Oh, don't make a fuel of yourself."

If you don't believe in cooperation watch what happens to an automobile when a wheel comes off.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends, and neighbors for the sympathy and kindness shown me during the illness and death of my husband, Rev. H. H. Lowe. Special thanks to Dr. C. L. Horton, Dr. W. A. Dearman of Long Beach, and Mrs. E. Cleggett, nurse, and Mr. W. A. Tate.

Also to Dr. A. A. Cooley of Vicksburg, and all the other ministers who took part in the services, to the members of the First Baptist Church, to the various lodges and societies to which he belonged, to Prof. and Mrs. Pollard and Valena C. Jones School, and to all who showed their kindness and consideration during my recent bereavement also for the many beautiful floral offerings, Lorraine Flower Shop and to the Fahy Undertaking Company for the manner in which they arranged the funeral. All have my everlasting gratitude.

WORK AND PLAY
AT S. J. A.

"THREE PEGS"

Well, "The Three Pegs" was played Friday night. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed it. We don't like to say, "I told you so," but in this case we are somewhat justified. Notwithstanding the fact that it was Friday, the thirteenth and many superstitious people predicted to the contrary the play was a success.

The actresses themselves claimed they enjoyed taking part in it. This may sound conceited, but what they meant was they had a good time playing in it. They all agreed none had stage fright which is a rare occurrence for amateur players. Since the whole cast was so good, we are wondering when all those offers from Broadway will be pouring in. May be we will be able to say in a few years from now with pride, "They I went to school with her." Why can't all look back and say, "I got my start in a S. J. A. High School play, called 'The Three Pegs.'"

The cast deserves due praise for their commendable work. In view of the many activities that were going on last week, $43.50 is an appreciable amount.

SODALITY.

The girls of S. J. A. were agreeably surprised Monday by a visit from Rev. George A. McDonald, S. J., who conducted the Dixie Sodality Convention at New Orleans a few days before. Father McDonald spoke of the main events of the Convention and brought out particularly the campaign against immoral and obscene movies. The campaign will be outlined in the Queen's Work, the official organ of the Sodality.

Beginning with the September issue and continuing with each following issue three pictures will be named which violate the producers' code and which the Sodalists will pledge themselves not to attend. In addition, they have also promised to write personal letters to producers and to the stars, expressing their disapproval of the film. Surely five hundred thousand letters is bound to produce an effect.

If everyone does his part this campaign will be a success, and only decent and clean movies will be shown. This campaign is to be given a year's trial.

MAY ECHOES.

As the month of May is fast approaching the girls are also busy planning for their annual May festival. We are not letting the cat out of the bag as yet, and your curiosity will have to be satisfied with the announcement of the date, Sunday May 13th.

Recreational Group
Enjoy Outdoor Ball
Games Over County

Three quite interesting events were enjoyed by the Recreational Workers last week in baseball games at Logtown, Flat Top and Standard. These teams are getting ready for the big County Event Day, so as to make competition for the other teams when they play for the championship at St. Stanislaus stadium Saturday, May 5th. It is hard to believe, but quite true, that the women stand a good chance of winning over the men, since we have some mighty good players on each side at each place. Other communities are getting ready for their games next week.

Personal and General

FEATURES OF FLOWER
GARDENS ABOUT TOWN.

In addition to the gorgeous beds of pansies around the courthouse building and also a bed to the rear of the jail house keeper, nothing else compares with the thousands of giant pansy plants adorning the North Beach Boulevard home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Kenney. Mrs. Kenney has made a specialty of pansies for the past several years and her front yard presents a medium of floral beauty seemingly increasing each season.

Adjoining the terrace of the G. M. Milam home will soon be a riot of color with hundreds of giant petunia plants that were recently set out and give promise of much success. Mrs. Milam's petunia garden on the street front and later her zinnia garden in its place attracted much attention. There has been no better contribution to "the city beautiful" than this.

Another outer garden in front of the family premises is that of Mr. Thomas P. Hale who has transformed a low sandy grass-ridden yard and street front into a veritable garden, noted for its variety of plants and the number thereof. Mr. Hale gives this pastime of his such attention that gives ample return for his "labor of love." It is an example worth following.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Bon Temps, residing out Main street, last year set out one hundred azalea plants along the long driveway and this year are giving much evidence of future beauty. We know of no garden at present that promises so much.

Hundreds of gardens in and around Bay St. Louis are worthy of mention, many hidden and unseen. It is an evidence of cultural life and lends a charm and influence that is marked.

MISS HALE TO VISIT
IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Friends of Miss Mamie Hale will be interested to learn of a contemplated trip to San Francisco, Cal., to visit her brother, Mr. Theodore Hale, widely known and prominent attorney of that city. Such a trip should prove delightful and it is the wish of her friends it will be enjoyed to the fullest extent.

NEW HOSTESS FOR INN-BY-SEA.

Mrs. Mamie O'Dom of Bay St. Louis has taken the position of hostess at the charming and fashionable Inn-by-the-Sea resort hotel, on Bay St. Louis, at Henderson Point. And will be glad to cater to her Bay St. Louis and other friends, wishing to give luncheon, dinner and card parties.

GRADUATION SEASON
NEAR AT HAND.

Graduation season is in the offing. Already Bay High School class members have their invitations and personal cards to match. The class is unusually large, numbering twenty-three. Class flower, white rose; class colors green and white.

MUNICIPAL BAND TO GIVE PUBLIC CONCERTS.

Bay St. Louis city officials plan the building of a band stand in City Park, one of the city's most inviting places and the Municipal Band will give public concerts at regular intervals. It is hoped the plan will be carried out at an early date in time for the full summer season. Mayor Blaize and associate commissioners are enthusiastic over the project.

BAY VISITOR TO N. O.

BAY MEMBERS ATTEND
GARDEN CLUB MEETING.

Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdene, Mrs. Harry da Ponte and Mrs. C. G. Moreau members of Pass Christian Garden Club attended a meeting of that club and reception that followed Monday afternoon at the residence of Miss Lucy Garrett, at East End. Aside from Miss Garrett's unbounded and charming hospitality feature of the affair was a visit to the gardens in the park-like premises back of the beautiful home. The Garden Club decided to give a flower show at an early date.

CELEBRATION OF DR. AND
MRS. SPEER'S SILVER
WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Speer celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home on Main Street. Quite a host of friends gathered with them to celebrate this happy occasion on April 11th. The entertainment features were quite surprising to both hosts and guests, since the Recreational Workers, Mrs. Mamie Sylvester and her assistants, Misses Hazel Kergosien, Lucille Besancon, and Hona Ansley had charge of this, the main event being a mock wedding which brought back fond memories. The bride wore an old curtain as her veil with green and white straw as the wreath. She carried a bouquet of vegetable leaves, and wore sweeping gloves. The groom had his hat decorated with Easter straw and wore old driving gloves. He had a spray of celery as his boutonniere. The ring bearer brought the ring in on a diagonal pillow of about 30x15.

The Printed
WORD

The printed word reaches more people sooner than verbal or personal contacts. It has an approach that rivals that of the best salesman; it often gets in where real salesmen fear to tread. If your business seems to be slacking up try treating it the printed word way. You will be rewarded with results.
